The Alida branch of Carson Energy Services, located on Highway 361 in southeast Saskatchewan, employs 20 individuals.

Skid and large steel fabrication, shop and field welding, large facility construction, field and shop facility fabrication, iron work, quality assurance, and daily crew maintenance work in the oilfield are the duties performed from this location.

CES' Alida operation consists of a 3,200 sq. ft. shop with overhead crane, a second shop with 6,000 sq. feet of working area, a 1,200 sq. ft. training room, and 1,200 sq. ft. of office/administrative space.

As part of its commitment to leadership in the energy services industry, CES recognizes the importance of safety, health and environmental training. All CES locations provide comprehensive education to all personnel. CES' quality management programs are registered in Alberta, Saskatchewan, B.C. and Manitoba, ensuring the best in services and products for clients.

Our personnel are trained and qualified to meet the challenges and requirements of a wide array of construction projects.
